We all know I'm a musical geek. If you didn't, now you do – yes I am. I often like to listen to the whole sound track from top to bottom and imagine the scene. the musical made me feel alive, and all the songs tell stories and show the photo. is how to read the book with a 3d glasses. the wicked musical, one of the mostmusical in history, it's a very important piece for me. I have never seen it on the real stage, but I know every line through and through. The song 'Defying Gravity' is the song I consider my theme song. I'm projecting to the character and giving me the energy. And Idina Menzel and Kristin Chenoweth became two of my favorite musical performers. Ergo, my theme song. When I was going through a difficult time in graduation school, I printed the texts and put it on my desk. I think it was the first time I realized the symbolic meaning of the 'defense of gravity'. I still had a very limited English skill at that time. In fact – and I admit that this is a bit too much geeky for me too – these texts are on the first page of my Master's thesis book. For your information, my major is mechanical engineering. I know, it's not good with the rest of the book, but it meant so much to me. Lyrica, it goes like this; something has changed in me Something is not the same that I am going through with the game according to the rules of someone else's game Too late for the second-guessing Too late to go back to sleep It is time to trust my instincts. Close your eyes and jump! It's time to try. Defend gravity I think I'll try. Defend gravity And you can't pull me down. I'm accepting limits because someone says that they are so Some things I can't change, but until I try, I'll never know! Too long I was afraid to lose love I think I haveWell, if that's love, it's too high! As he has told me lately: "There is a chance to fly!" And if I'm flying alone, I'm free. I think most people feel that they are not popular. At school, at work, when traveling, even with this cool travel bloggers company, we are never the 'cool girl'. We've never slipped. Elphaba clearly does not belong to any normal group. The green skin witch that has a sweet and courageous heart cannot be accepted by anyone because of its skin color. She was different. For me, growing up in such a convective society made me feel like I was strange. I've always been the one who walked into the world outside. Passing through the schools and the cubic farm, I thought about Elphaba and this song a lot. I was the one with the green skin. I was different. There's something that's changed me for some time. I realized I could really do things to make my life happier and I did. I was tired of accepting limits that were not mine, I finished playing according to the rules of someone else's game and there was no step back for me. Just to jump, and I did. It was my chance to fly. If I'm flying alone, I'm free. It was alone and is – that lives differently from what most people from my country of origin. I'm a failure and embarrassment for my family. I studied hard, I have a food value in life, a healthy attitude but none of it matters. Still, I'm livingwhat I planned but does not mean that I do not think of negative energy from home. It's alone. That's why I liked this line so much "As someone has told me lately, 'Everyone deserves the chance to fly'. And if they are flying alone at least I'm free." Yeah, I'm flying alone, but I'm flying free and anyone can't pull me down. In the end, I don't think anyone wants me to live a life I don't want. For what? They, people who make me sick, are sad because I don't want the same lifestyle that everyone does, or at least pretend to do. However, they want to blame someone other than themselves and believe that I am influenced by 'free spirited people' outside the world, but none of this is true. They just don't want to accept that people can be different. So yes, I'm still listening to Defend gravity and looking for energy to power through. What's your theme song? song?
