Is there a heroes of olympus book 6

Recently, I had the honor to sit with five authorized Practical Nurses (LPNs) from VA Sierra Nevada Health Care System at a quiet private airport in Reno, Nevada. We were waiting for their jet, courtesy of the U.S. Air Force, to get and take these heroes out of New Jersey. They were going to provide relief to tired practitioners who fight pandemic. These LPNs volunteered to go to New Jersey to assist medical staff in nursing homes, where staff was set to the care break for their senior high-risk population. While I was sitting with them, I realized that I had an honest admiration not only for these five individuals, but also for my entire VA health care team. Nurses about their way of helping in New Jersey. None of them expressed remorse with their volunteer decision. Each would work without pause, 12-hour shifts (perhaps longer) with complete strangers, caring for elderly citizens on the eastern coast. They spoke with compassion and used phrases like: "This is what I was born to do." "We need nurses now more than ever One has also stated that he has no family here in Nevada and if required to extend his short tour to New Jersey, he would gladly. He said he was hoping that he would have inspired someone to consider a career in health care. "We need more nurses," he said, "now more than ever." The small jet of the Air Force C-21 arrived and three young crew members descended on the asphalt. Through the waiting window, we have commented onthe appearance of the crew in their military has released suits of olive green flight. We started making references to Top Gun. "That looks like Maverick," he said. "If there is an Oca, we are screwed!" said another. We all burst into laughter, which increased even more as the three young members of the service entered the airport with the appearance of bewit to our good mood. Their faces quickly turned into comforting smiles. They understood that this moment was necessary. "God speed and safe travel!" The pilot assured everyone that once the plane is powered, loaded, and the pre-flight controls made, they would be on their way. The crew kind of humoured me with their photos with our nurses and the plane. I have witnessed with the loading of LPN bags on the jet and offer everyone a safe trip. I stayed in the small airport to look through the window until the wheels were off the ground. "God speed and safe travel", I said out loud. I heard a "Amen" from behind me and I went to see a luggage manager had come to look as well. For the nurse who claimed not to have family here in Nevada, I beg to differ. You have VA. Together we are strong, and together we are a family. Shane Whitecloud is a Navy Veteran and a public business officer with the Sierra Nevada health care system.
