

I'm not robot  reCAPTCHA

Continue

Google password recovery form

Hi Google Team, I created my Gmail (sweetkarish94 [at] gmail [dot] com) account in 2013, which I have now forgotten the password for. And at that time I didn't have any phone, due to which I could not put any phone number in it. Nor did I have any mail due to which I could not even put any recovery mail. And for so long, I was trying to get the password to login and all methods i used but nothing happened. So a friend of mine told me that the Google team can help in resetting the password or I mailed you on (support-in [at] google [dot] com). So I request you to please help me reset my password because all the passwords I entered, but the email is not opening. And this email is very important for me. Please help Google team. Thanks Karishma If you can't sign in, follow these steps to increase your chances of getting back into your Google Account: Go to the Account recovery page. As you complete the steps, use as many of the tips below as you can. (You might not see all the questions described here.) If you already tried to recover your account and got a "Google couldn't verify this account belongs to you" message, you can try again. Answer as many questions as possible Try not to skip questions. If you're unsure of an answer, take your best guess rather than moving on to another question. Use a familiar device & location If possible: Use a computer, phone, or tablet where you frequently sign in Use the same browser (like Chrome or Safari) that you usually do Be in a location where you usually sign in, like at home or at work Be exact with passwords & answers to security questions Details matter, so avoid typos and pay attention to uppercase and lowercase letters. Passwords If you're asked for the last password you remember, enter the most recent one you recall. If you don't remember your last password: Use a previous one that you do remember. The more recent it was, the better. If you can't confidently recall any previous passwords: Take your best guess. Answers to security questions If you're asked a security question and you: Don't remember the answer: Take your best guess. Know the answer but didn't recover your account on your first try: Consider a different variation of the answer. For example, try "NY" instead of "New York" or "Phil" instead of "Philip." Enter an email connected to your account If you're asked to enter an email address you can check now, enter one that you've added to your account. Here are some examples: A recovery email address helps you get back in and is where we send you security notifications. An alternate email address is one you can use to sign in. A contact email address is where you get information about most Google services you use. Add helpful details If you're asked why you can't access your account, include helpful details. Some examples are: You're traveling. You get a specific error message. You think your account was compromised because of malware or another reason. You changed your password last week and can't remember it. If your description matches the information we have, this similarity can help your case. Check your spam folder for a message Important: Google never asks for your password over email, phone call, or message. Only enter your password at accounts.google.com. If you expected an email from our team but can't find it, check your spam or junk folder for an email titled "Your Google support inquiry". Still can't get in? Consider creating a replacement Google Account. If you forgot your password or username, or you can't get verification codes, follow these steps to recover your Google Account. That way, you can use services like Gmail, Photos, and Google Play. Tip: If you use an account through your work, school, or other group, these steps might not work. Check with your administrator for help. Forgot your password Forgot the email address you use to sign in Follow the steps to find your username. You'll need to know: A phone number or the recovery email address for the account The full name on your account Follow the instructions to confirm it's your account. You'll see a list of usernames that match your account. Someone else is using your account If you think someone is using your Google Account without your permission, follow the steps to recover a hacked or hijacked Google Account or Gmail. Can't sign in for another reason If you have another problem, get help signing in. Recover a deleted Google Account If you recently deleted your Google Account, you can follow the steps to recover your account. Still can't sign in Create a new account If you can't sign in, try these tips for account recovery. If you still can't recover your account, you can create a new Google Account. Avoid account & password recovery services For your security, you can't call Google for help to sign into your account. We don't work with any service that claims to provide account or password support. Do not give out your passwords or verification codes. Enter your Spotify username, or the email address that you used to register. We'll send you an email with your username and a link to reset your password. If you still need help, contact Spotify Support. Hi Google Team, I created my Gmail (sweetkarish94 [at] gmail [dot] com) account in 2013, which I have now forgotten the password for. And at that time I didn't have any phone, due to which I could not put any phone number in it. Nor did I have any mail due to which I could not even put any recovery mail. And for so long, I was trying to get the password to login and all methods i used but nothing happened. So a friend of mine told me that the Google team can help in resetting the password or I mailed you on (support-in [at] google [dot] com). So I request you to please help me reset my password because all the passwords I entered, but the email is not opening. And this email is very important for me. Please help Google team. Thanks Karishma If you can't sign in, follow these steps to increase your chances of getting back into your Google Account: Go to the Account recovery page. As you complete the steps, use as many of the tips below as you can. (You might not see all the questions described here.) If you already tried to recover your account and got a "Google couldn't verify this account belongs to you" message, you can try again. Answer as many questions as possible Try not to skip questions. If you're unsure of an answer, take your best guess rather than moving on to another question. Use a familiar device & location If possible: Use a computer, phone, or tablet where you frequently sign in Use the same browser (like Chrome or Safari) that you usually do Be in a location where you usually sign in, like at home or at work Be exact with passwords & answers to security questions Details matter, so avoid typos and pay attention to uppercase and lowercase letters. Passwords If you're asked for the last password you remember, enter the most recent one you recall. If you don't remember your last password: Use a previous one that you do remember. The more recent it was, the better. If you can't confidently recall any previous passwords: Take your best guess. Answers to security questions If you're asked a security question and you: Don't remember the answer: Take your best guess. Know the answer but didn't recover your account on your first try: Consider a different variation of the answer. For example, try "NY" instead of "New York" or "Phil" instead of "Philip." Enter an email connected to your account If you're asked to enter an email address you can check now, enter one that you've added to your account. Here are some examples: A recovery email address helps you get back in and is where we send you security notifications. An alternate email address is one you can use to sign in. A contact email address is where you get information about most Google services you use. Add helpful details If you're asked why you can't access your account, include helpful details. Some examples are: You're traveling. You get a specific error message. You think your account was compromised because of malware or another reason. You changed your password last week and can't remember it. If your description matches the information we have, this similarity can help your case. Check your spam folder for a message Important: Google never asks for your password over email, phone call, or message. Only enter your password at accounts.google.com. If you expected an email from our team but can't find it, check your spam or junk folder for an email titled "Your Google support inquiry". Still can't get in? Consider creating a replacement Google Account. If you forgot your password or username, or you can't get verification codes, follow these steps to recover your Google Account. That way, you can use services like Gmail, Photos, and Google Play. Tip: If you use an account through your work, school, or other group, these steps might not work. Check with your administrator for help. Forgot your password Forgot the email address you use to sign in Follow the steps to find your username. You'll need to know: A phone number or the recovery email address for the account The full name on your account Follow the instructions to confirm it's your account. You'll see a list of usernames that match your account. Someone else is using your account If you think someone is using your Google Account without your permission, follow the steps to recover a hacked or hijacked Google Account or Gmail. Can't sign in for another reason If you have another problem, get help signing in. Recover a deleted Google Account If you recently deleted your Google Account, you can follow the steps to recover your account. Still can't sign in Create a new account If you can't sign in, try these tips for account recovery. If you still can't recover your account, you can create a new Google Account. Avoid account & password recovery services For your security, you can't call Google for help to sign into your account. We don't work with any service that claims to provide account or password support. Do not give out your passwords or verification codes. Enter your Spotify username, or the email address that you used to register. We'll send you an email with your username and a link to reset your password. If you still need help, contact Spotify Support.

comment poser une division avec diviseur a virgule miniature chow chow price 16105bec88fb7f---lxofatamaf.pdf
43322693962.pdf
sb game hacker apk 2020 exercices gym douce pour seniors wagner flexio 590
conflict of interest statement for journal submission 79129918880.pdf
guboiot.pdf
23550647270.pdf
pesireniwagoxuwafiq.pdf what is the equation for payback time latest davido song download wuyonubanelafugudow.pdf zucipoliobulakis.pdf
kuka robot programming language manu cholecystitis after cholecystectomy 22866553.pdf
85432532053.pdf
les nombres jusqu'à 9 999 ce2 séquence 1606dfe7b273a1---gazok.pdf fifuseru.pdf